Investing involves risk, including possible loss of principal.

The two main risks related to fixed-income investing are interest rate risk and credit risk. Typically, when interest rates rise, there is a corresponding decline in bond values. Credit risk refers to the possibility that the bond issuer will not be able to make principal and interest payments. Non investment-grade debt securities (high-yield/junk bonds) may be subject to greater market fluctuations, risk of default or loss of income and principal than higher-rated securities. International investing involves risks, including risks related to foreign currency, limited liquidity, less government regulation and the possibility of substantial volatility due to adverse political, economic or other developments. These risks often are heightened for investments in emerging/ developing markets or in concentrations of single countries. Small-capitalization companies may be less stable and more susceptible to adverse developments, and their securities may be more volatile and less liquid than larger capitalization companies. Investments that are concentrated in specific industries, sectors, markets or asset classes may underperform or be more volatile than other industries, sectors, markets or asset classes and the general securities market. Derivatives entail risks relating to liquidity, leverage and credit that may reduce returns and increase volatility.

Past performance does not guarantee or indicate future results. The performance shown does not reflect the performance of actual client accounts based on the managed portfolio strategies that are managed by an Advisor utilizing BlackRock's non-discretionary investment recommendations. Although it is generally contemplated that the Advisor will implement BlackRock's investment recommendations in client accounts, the performance of such accounts may differ from the performance shown for a variety of reasons, including but not limited to: the Advisor, and not BlackRock, is responsible for implementing trades in the accounts; differences in market conditions; client-imposed investment restrictions; the timing of client investments and withdrawals, cash flows into or out of such accounts; fees payable by such accounts; and/or other factors. Composite and benchmark/index performance results reflect realized and unrealized appreciation and the reinvestment of dividends, interest, and/or capital gains. Taxes have not been deducted. Gross composite returns do not reflect actual performance because they do not reflect the deduction of any fees or expenses. Such fees that a client may incur in the management of their investment advisory account may reduce the client's return. The "net of fees" performance figures reflect the deduction of an investment advisory fee but do not reflect the deduction of custodial fees, platform fees or brokerage commissions. All periods longer than one year are annualized. Net composite returns reflect the deduction of an annual fee of 3.00% typically deducted quarterly. Due to the compounding effect of these fees, annual net composite returns may be lower than stated gross returns less stated annual fee. Index returns do not reflect transaction costs or the deduction of fees and it is not possible to invest directly in an index.
