Past performance is not a reliable indicator of current or future results and should not be the sole factor of consideration when selecting a product or strategy. Returns shown are those of unit lending not the performance the fund has achieved. With securities lending there is a risk of loss should the borrower default before the securities are returned, and due to market movements, the value of collateral held has fallen and/or the value of the securities loan has risen. Source: IHS Markit. Return to lendable is defined as the total lending income generated by all the ETF unit loans, divided by the average market value of all the ETF units available for lending, during the 12 months ending end of September 2024, 2023, and 2022. Figures provided do not include fees paid to lending agents. Additional lending supply may impact ETF Unit return to lendable.

Investing in derivatives may involve a high degree of risk and are not suitable for all investors. Derivatives may be volatile and are subject to counterparty risk, which is the risk that the other party in the transaction will not fulfill its contractual obligation. An investor could suffer losses related to its derivative positions because of a possible lack of liquidity in the secondary market and as a result of unanticipated market movements, which losses are potentially unlimited. There is no guarantee that securities lending will generate any level of income. Distributions paid out of the Fund's net investment income, including income from securities lending, if any, are taxable to investors as ordinary income.

Description of Product Risks

Concentration Risk

Investment risk is concentrated in specific sectors, countries, currencies or companies. This means the Fund is more sensitive to any localised economic, market, political or regulatory events.

Counterparty Risk

The insolvency of any institutions providing services such as safekeeping of assets or acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, may expose the Share Class to financial loss.

Credit Risk

The issuer of a financial asset held within the Fund may not pay income or repay capital to the Fund when due.

ESG Screening Risk (ETF)

The benchmark index only excludes companies engaging in certain activities inconsistent with ESG criteria if such activities exceed the thresholds determined by the index provider. Investors should therefore make a personal ethical assessment of the benchmark index's ESG screening prior to investing in the Fund. Such ESG screening may adversely affect the value of the Fund's investments compared to a fund without such screening.

Liquidity Risk

The Fund's investments may have low liquidity which often causes the value of these investments to be less predictable. In extreme cases, the Fund may not be able to realise the investment at the latest market price or at a price considered fair.

Credit Bail in Risk

The issuer of a financial asset held within the Fund may not pay income or repay capital to the Fund when due. If a financial institution is unable to meet its financial obligations, its financial assets may be subject to a write down in value or converted (i.e. "bail-in") by relevant authorities to rescue the institution.

Derivatives Risk

Derivatives may be highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset on which they are based and can increase the size of losses and gains, resulting in greater fluctuations in the value of the Fund. The impact to the Fund can be greater where derivatives are used in an extensive or complex way.

Interest Rate Hedging Risk

Interest rate hedging aims to mitigate, but will not eliminate, interest rate risk in the Fund, and may affect the performance of the Fund.

Combined Credit and Non-investment Grade Risk

Changes to interest rates, credit risk and/or issuer defaults will have a significant impact on the performance of fixed income securities. Non-investment grade fixed income securities can be more sensitive to changes in these risks than higher rated fixed income securities. Potential or actual credit rating downgrades may increase the level of perceived risk.

Description of Product Risks

Currency Risk

The Fund invests in other currencies. Changes in exchange rates will therefore affect the value of the investment.

Emerging Markets Risk

Emerging markets are generally more sensitive to economic and political conditions than developed markets. Other factors include greater 'Liquidity Risk', restrictions on investment or transfer of assets and failed/delayed delivery of securities or payments to the Fund.

Emerging Market Government Fixed Income Securities Risk

Fixed income securities issued or guaranteed by government entities in emerging markets generally experience higher 'Credit Risk' than developed economies.
