Class I Shares	$76	0.72%

How did the Fund perform last year?

- For the same period, the Russell 1000® Index returned 24.51% and the Russell 1000® Value Index returned 14.37%.

What contributed to performance?

Positive contributions to performance over the reporting period were led by investment decisions in the financials, industrials and consumer discretionary sectors. In financials, positioning in banks proved additive, highlighted by exposure to one of the largest U.S.-based multinational banks. In industrials, positioning in professional services was beneficial, most notably holdings of a government defense and intelligence contractor. In consumer discretionary, positioning in the automobiles industry added to return, led by holdings of a leading U.S. car manufacturer.

What detracted from performance?

The largest detractors from the Fund's absolute performance were investment decisions in the healthcare, consumer staples and materials sectors. In healthcare, positioning in healthcare providers and services weighed on performance, most notably holdings of a leading drug store chain and pharmacy benefit manager. In consumer staples, positioning in distribution and retail detracted, in particular holdings of a leading low-price retail chain. In materials, positioning in the containers and packaging industry had a negative impact, including holdings of a leading provider of packaging solutions used with the transport of food and goods.
