*Please note: A medallion signature guarantee is a stamp affixed by an authorized financial institution next to the signature. The stamp guarantees that the signer is the appropriate person with the legal capacity to complete the request, and the signature's authenticity. The financial institution verifying the signature assumes the financial risk associated with providing the medallion guarantee, in case of fraud. The medallion guarantee program benefits shareholders, adding additional protection in the prevention of an unauthorized party accessing their account. Medallion signature guarantees may be executed by banks, broker/dealers, national securities exchanges, and savings associations. A "Signature Verification Stamp" is a substitute available at many financial institutions.
