How did the Fund perform last year?

- For the reporting period ended February 28, 2026, the Fund returned 4.58%.
- For the same period, the ICE BofA US Broad Market Index returned 6.23% and the ICE U.S. Treasury 1-3 Year Bond Index (Spliced) returned 4.72%.

What contributed to performance?

U.S. bond markets gained during the reporting period, supported by a resilient domestic economy despite conflicting data. The Federal Reserve (“Fed”) reduced rates by 75 basis points across three 25 basis point rate cuts in late 2025, prompted by a cooling labor market amid elevated inflation. The yield on the 10-year U.S. Treasury ended lower as investors negotiated the Trump Administration’s trade policies, a prolonged U.S. government shutdown, and increasing geopolitical tensions later in the period.

The yield curve (the difference between a shorter-term bond and a longer-term bond, most often gauged by the two-year Treasury note and the 10-year Treasury note) continued to steepen as rate cuts pushed shorter-term yields lower, while inflation and heavy Treasury supply kept longer-maturity yields higher.

What detracted from performance?

During the reporting period, the prices of long-term government securities were negatively impacted by rising yields.
