The person is wearing a blue t-shirt, khaki shorts, a grey backpack, and a cap. The boardwalk is made of light-colored wooden planks and has metal railings on both sides. The surrounding vegetation is thick and vibrant green, with various types of trees and ferns visible. The scene is brightly lit, suggesting a sunny day.

Chairman's Letter

Dear Investors,

As Chairman, and on behalf of my fellow Board of Directors, I would like to thank you for reading our report.

The annual Value Assessment process is an important part of our ongoing commitment to our fiduciary responsibilities. It is intended to help you make better-informed decisions about your investments. This aligns with our mission, in conjunction with our investment manager, BlackRock Investment Management (UK) Limited (BlackRock)¹, to help more people experience financial well-being. The Board of BlackRock Fund Managers Limited (BFM) has independently scrutinised BlackRock's management of its UK funds in a broad context; fund costs are an important aspect of the report, together with the overall scope and quality of services offered and the investment performance and objectives of the funds.

Over the past twelve months, persistent inflation and supply constraints have compelled central banks around the world to make trade-offs between growth and inflation, which has resulted in interest rates being increased at the fastest pace in decades. This marks a sea change from the four decades of largely steady economic growth and stable inflation that provided a supportive backdrop for broad asset class returns. The UK's mini-budget in September last year and banking turmoil in the US and Europe earlier this year have provided further evidence that we are in a new phase of greater macroeconomic and market volatility. We remain as committed as ever to serving our investors and providing them with continued value as demonstrated in this report.

BlackRock and BFM continually seek to improve our fund range and enhance the service offering we provide to our investors. Consumer Duty, which came into effect on 31 July this year, has reinforced our focus on delivering good outcomes for retail investors, including ensuring that our products provide fair value. We are committed to making further improvements to the methodology and presentation of our value assessment and have taken into consideration the second round of findings issued by the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA) in August 2023 following their review of a sample of asset managers' Value Assessment reports.

Non-Executive Director and Board Chairman of BlackRock Fund Managers
Limited

¹ Throughout this report, where we refer to BlackRock, it could imply the investment manager, BlackRock Investment Management (UK) or its parent entity BlackRock, Inc. As most investors are familiar with the brand name 'BlackRock' we have used this term for their ease of understanding.

Following our commitment made in last year's Value Assessment report, I am pleased to report that we have recently implemented a tiered pricing model for a number of funds within our UK authorised fund range. This will apply automatic discounts to the Annual Management Charge (AMC) of a fund as its assets under management (AUM) grow above certain defined levels. This would allow fund investors to benefit from reduced fees where further economies of scale are generated.

The preparation of this year's report once again benefitted from challenge and input from BFM's Non-Executive Directors. We also engaged two independent specialists, Broadridge Financial Solutions and Fitz Partners, to provide additional analysis on the methodology used and to advise on appropriate peer group comparisons.

In this year's assessment, we found that the large majority of the funds evaluated — representing 96% of assets under management within our UK authorised funds — delivered value. Of these, ten funds, representing 2.5% of assets under management were rated as delivering value, with action initiated to improve value further. Two funds, representing 0.3% of assets under management were found not to deliver value consistently. We classified thirteen funds, representing the remaining 3.7% of assets under management, as too new to rate. We also found that:

- Our actively managed equity and fixed income funds generated an average alpha (excess returns above the benchmark) of 1.5 times the fees collected on a net cumulative basis during the five-year period ending 30 June 2023¹
- 78% of unit classes in our funds were priced at or below the median of their respective peer groups² as of 30 June 2023
- BFM passed on savings of £1.9 million to fund investors via expense caps during the one-year period ending 30 June 2023

We hope you find this report useful and that it helps inform the important decisions you make about where and how you invest your money. We continually strive to innovate, improve and adapt as we draw on BlackRock's deep resources and expertise to help you meet your financial goals.

Section 1

Our Approach to Assessing Value

Overview

The Financial Conduct Authority (FCA) requires fund managers to complete an annual assessment of whether its UK authorised funds provide value to investors. Our evaluation considered investment performance, costs and charges at the fund and unit class levels. It also looked at service quality and concluded with an overall assessment of whether investors received value. The FCA regulations set out seven criteria against which we must measure and report the value delivered:

- 1) Performance: Are our funds delivering on their investment objectives?
- 2) Comparable market rates: Are BlackRock's funds priced reasonably compared to our competitors?
- 3) Comparable services: Are our funds priced reasonably compared to other BlackRock products with similar investment strategies?
- 4) Authorised Fund Manager (AFM) costs: Are the fees charged to investors reasonable and appropriate?
- 5) Economies of scale: Are economies of scale passed on to investors?
- 6) Quality of service: Does our range and quality of service represent value?
- 7) Classes of units: Are investors in the most appropriate and lowest-charging unit class for which they are eligible?

For many years, the BFM Board has had processes in place for reviewing our funds' design, performance, pricing and the services provided to fund investors. The FCA's Value Assessment requirements, as well as the recently introduced Consumer Duty regulations, have brought increased rigour and transparency to our pre-existing processes. Our annual Value Assessment report provides a platform for us to share the results of our latest review, explain the changes that we have introduced and outline our future plans.

Our Value Assessment process

We understand that when investors choose to invest in funds, some of the most important factors they consider are performance, costs and service quality. With this in mind, our methodology for determining whether a fund delivers value puts the greatest emphasis on investment performance, while also considering costs and service quality. Our final assessment for each fund is based on extensive quantitative and qualitative analysis.

We consulted with Broadridge Financial Solutions and Fitz Partners, who provided independent analysis about relevant peer group comparisons. They also provided feedback about our assessment methodologies. We engaged BlackRock's Global Product Group (GPG) and Risk & Quantitative Analysis Group (RQA) to refine our methodology and prepare this report. GPG manages BlackRock's product development, while RQA assesses the investment risk of portfolios managed by BlackRock and develops analytics and standards to assess performance.

Action Taken to Improve Value & Choice for Investors

In our 2022 Value Assessment report, we identified remedial action to improve the value offered by four BlackRock funds. Over the past 12 months, we have taken the steps outlined in the table below.

Details
Focus Area	Enhanced performance monitoring Our previous assessment identified four funds that required enhanced performance monitoring due to their investment underperformance. During the past 12 months, one of these four funds was closed and the other three funds were subject to heightened scrutiny by the BFM Board. One of the three funds successfully passed our 2023 assessment and has been removed from the enhanced performance monitoring programme. Please refer to Section 4: Fund Pages for more detailed fund-specific commentary.
	BlackRock Gold & General Fund This fund successfully passed our 2023 performance assessment and has been removed from the enhanced performance monitoring programme.
	BlackRock Market Advantage Fund This fund did not pass our 2023 performance assessment and will continue to be on the enhanced performance monitoring programme. We have also decided to take further remedial action to improve its future value delivery.
	BlackRock UK Fund This fund did not pass our 2023 performance assessment. However, performance has steadily improved since the portfolio manager changed in December last year. The fund will continue to be on the enhanced performance monitoring programme.
	BlackRock Asia Special Situations Fund This fund was closed on 11 January 2023 following a review of the fund's size and commercial viability.

Outside of our formal Value Assessment review, and as part of the ongoing evolution of our platform, we have taken steps to offer greater value and choice to fund investors. Over the past 12 months, we have completed the actions outlined in the table below to manage our product offering and meet your evolving needs.

		Details
Focus Area	Unit class conversions BlackRock has taken steps to move direct investors to lower-charging unit classes of the same fund with similar rights, when doing so was deemed to be in investors' best interests. Please refer to Section 2: Value Assessment Criteria for more details on unit class conversions.	During the assessment period, we identified certain investors eligible for a lower-charging unit class within the same fund. Consequently, between June and October 2023, we converted 237 unit holders to lower-charging unit classes across 14 funds. This resulted in an estimated annualised saving of £40,000 for BFM fund investors.
	Voting Choice BlackRock's role is to help our clients achieve their long-term financial goals. We do so in the knowledge that the money we manage belongs to our clients. We work hard to stay ahead of our clients' needs by providing them with the widest range of options across everything we do so they can choose what works best for them. Our view is that the choices we make available to clients should also extend to proxy voting. We believe clients should, where possible, have more choice in how they participate in proxy voting for the underlying securities within their fund investments.	BlackRock Voting Choice, launched in January 2022, is our solution to enable more institutional clients in certain eligible funds to vote their shares where they can legally and operationally do so. BlackRock has been working with industry partners to develop new technology that will allow significantly more voting options for more of our clients. Funds in the BlackRock Authorised Contractual Scheme I and the BlackRock Authorised Contractual Scheme II have been eligible to participate in this programme since 1 January 2022.

	ESG investment process integration We have taken steps to reposition certain funds to allow investors to invest in a manner that aims to meet specific ESG criteria. Section 2

Value Assessment Criteria

Performance

BlackRock is passionate about performance, achieving its funds' investment objectives and helping investors reach their goals.

Our evaluation method

The BFM Board, working in conjunction with BlackRock, applied quantitative and qualitative tests to assess whether funds, and their unit classes, delivered value through performance. We focused on investment returns after — or net of — fees relative to the fund's benchmark. The breadth of our product offering does not allow for a one-size-fits-all approach. Therefore, we grouped our funds according to one of three investment strategies: active, index and outcome-oriented. We have denoted each fund's strategy classification in brackets right before its performance commentary in Section 4: Fund Pages.

- Active strategies: We evaluated each fund's net-of-fees performance relative to its benchmark over medium- (three-year) and long-term (five-year) periods. Where applicable, we also considered performance relative to peers over the same periods. We either analysed sector data from an independent third party, such as Morningstar, or we referred to a customised peer group reviewed by an independent third party. Funds with an explicit gross-of-fees investment objective were assessed in a similar manner as funds with a net-of-fees objective. First, we assessed net-of-fees performance relative to its benchmark and peers. For these funds, we then took an extra step to assess whether the fund achieved its gross-of-fees investment objective as stated in the fund prospectus. This refers to the investment performance before fees are deducted. This consideration did not replace the net-of-fees performance assessment.
- Index strategies: We evaluated each fund's net-of-fees performance relative to its benchmark index over a one-year period. We considered one year to be an appropriate horizon, given how important close benchmark tracking is to index strategies. Where necessary, we conducted additional analysis to identify the factors driving any deviation of returns from the benchmark.
- Outcome-oriented strategies: The investment objectives of these funds are tied to specific outcomes. The funds fall into several distinct categories: income generation; volatility targeting; and ESG objectives and/or target asset allocation. We evaluated each fund's net-of-fees performance against the outcome(s) stated in its investment objective over medium- (three-year) and long-term (five-year) periods as applicable. We also examined each fund's net-of-fees performance relative to its benchmark, as applicable. Where appropriate comparators were available, we evaluated funds relative to their peer groups.

“We leverage the firm’s global investment platform and proprietary research to generate insights and help our clients navigate and stay nimble in a new economic regime”

Pierre Sarrau

BlackRock Head of Active Investment for EMEA

Our conclusions

We found that the large majority of our UK authorised funds and unit classes delivered value. Most of our index funds accurately tracked their respective benchmarks, allowing investors to efficiently gain exposure to various indices. Most of our active funds delivered positive net-of-fees performance. Alpha – investment returns above the benchmarks – generated within our actively managed equity and fixed income funds was, on average, 1.5 times the fees collected on a net cumulative basis during the five-year period ending 30 June 2023.¹ Our assessment also found that most of our outcome-oriented funds successfully achieved their intended outcomes (e.g., income generation).

Rising interest rates and inflation were challenging for clients and portfolio managers alike and affected the performance of some actively managed funds. However, we continue to maintain conviction in our investment teams' ability to outperform their respective benchmarks over the long-term. If a fund did not perform well, we have noted this in Section 4: Fund Pages. We have also explained the underperformance and, where necessary, initiated enhanced performance monitoring to improve future value delivery. As a result of this year's assessment, we have included ten funds in our enhanced performance monitoring programme.

Thirteen funds had performance track records of less than one year, so were deemed too new to rate.

BlackRock aims to deliver consistently strong performance by focusing on risk management and investment discipline. Thirty years ago, BlackRock launched its risk and portfolio construction technology platform, Aladdin. Aladdin enables portfolio management teams to manage risk better and make more informed investment decisions.

Almost two decades ago, BlackRock established a dedicated Risk & Quantitative Analysis (RQA) function. This has grown and developed over time, and today includes more than 300 professionals who work with the portfolio management teams to analyse and monitor risk. RQA provides oversight, daily risk reporting and scenario analysis at the portfolio and individual security levels.

Every quarter, the investment performance of all UK authorised funds is reviewed by both the investment teams and the BFM Board, in conjunction with RQA and our investment oversight group.

If a fund consistently underperforms, the BFM Board may suggest enhanced performance monitoring of that fund. This means that BFM reviews the fund's investment process to check it is aligned with its investment objective and public disclosures, including its prospectus. After the review, the BFM Board will decide upon any necessary action. BlackRock will be responsible for implementing this action, as well as providing the BFM Board with quarterly updates on the fund's performance.

¹ Averages are calculated using fund assets under management as of 30 June 2023 and only include actively managed equity and fixed income funds. Note that individual funds may have different results from the averages presented. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of current or future results and should not be the only factor considered when selecting a product or strategy.

Comparable Market Rates

BlackRock offers a variety of unit classes to meet the requirements of different types of investors.

Our evaluation method

Working with BlackRock, the BFM Board examined the costs of our funds relative to those of similar funds offered by our competitors. We focused on the Ongoing Charges Figure (OCF) for each unit class within a fund, which is referenced in the fund's Key Investor Information Document (or, for certain funds, the Key Information Document) and reflects its total annual costs.

Individual unit class charges were evaluated in two distinct ways. The first was against broad peer groups based on standard categories defined by the Investment Association (IA). If a unit class was not assigned a standard IA category, we engaged independent consultant Fitz Partners to recommend the most appropriate IA peer group comparator. The second evaluation was against custom peer groups. These groups were selected by Fitz Partners and included approximately 10 funds with similar management styles, investment objectives, sizes and availability to target investors. If the OCF of a unit class was priced higher than the median of its broad peer group, it was reviewed further against this custom peer group.

Our conclusions

We concluded that the large majority of our UK authorised funds and unit classes delivered value. We ensure that our funds are priced reasonably relative to their peers by pricing them competitively at the time of launch. We assess their management charges on an ongoing basis and scrutinise BlackRock's terms with third-party providers.

There are certain funds within the BFM range that offer only one unit class that does not charge a management fee within the fund. These funds target institutional investors, and their management fees are negotiated separately and billed outside the fund. This means that the OCF for these funds excludes management fees. For these funds, we have concluded that value was delivered on the basis that the institutional investors in these unit classes are able to negotiate bespoke pricing arrangements with us or our competitors. Funds with only one institutional unit class are noted in Section 4: Fund Pages.

If a fund was not priced competitively relative to its peers, we have noted it in Section 4: Fund Pages. We have included commentary on what drove those results and have also included details on any remedial action.

78% of unit classes in our funds were priced at the median or below their respective peer groups¹

The BFM Board will continue to work with BlackRock to assess the competitiveness of funds relative to similar products on the market. If any costs are not justified, we will rectify the situation to ensure that investors are charged an appropriate price for the services received.

¹ Comparison of ongoing charges relative to comparable unit class of direct peers in assigned Investment Association fund sector

Comparable Services

BlackRock delivers investment services across a range of vehicles, including funds and segregated mandates, which aim to meet investors' individual needs.

Our evaluation method

BlackRock's investors access investment strategies in many ways, including through funds and segregated mandates. The client's choice of investment structure is typically driven by the size of the investment and the level and type of service required. Working in conjunction with BlackRock, the BFM Board considered the following key factors in our evaluation:

- Consistency of unit class pricing: We assessed whether the management fees of individual unit classes are set through a consistent method and whether fee levels across unit classes within the same fund are appropriate.
- Costs relative to segregated mandates: For funds where there are similar segregated mandates, we assessed any additional services and benefits provided to investors in the funds relative to the segregated mandates. We then considered whether the additional costs and charges were reasonable in the context of the additional services provided. To the extent that there was a fee differential, we considered whether it was reasonable based on the investment size of the relevant segregated mandates.
- Costs relative to comparable funds: We evaluated whether each unit class was priced appropriately relative to the average of like-for-like unit classes of other UK and European domiciled BlackRock funds with similar investment strategies, if such a comparison was possible.

Our conclusions

We concluded that the large majority of our funds and unit classes delivered value for investors. We found that fee-setting principles were consistently applied across our funds and unit classes. In each case, we identified a relevant internal peer group and concluded fee levels to be reasonable. Further details on the Comparable Services assessment can be found in Section 4: Fund Pages.

As part of our pricing governance, the BFM Board regularly assesses how competitive our funds are relative to similar BlackRock products and services.

BlackRock's culture puts clients first, and the firm has procedures in place to ensure that they are treated fairly. BlackRock's Global Product Group (GPG) oversees product launches and fund range management. When products are being developed, GPG identifies the fund's target market, reviews its documentation and ensures that pricing is appropriate.

As part of our pricing governance, the BFM Board assesses how competitive our funds are relative to similar BlackRock products and services. If any costs are not justified, we will rectify the situation to ensure that investors are charged an appropriate price for the services received.

Authorised Fund Manager Costs

BlackRock's deliberate approach to pricing ensures investors are charged fairly with respect to services received.

Our evaluation method

Working in conjunction with BlackRock, the BFM Board examined the services, benefits and absolute level of costs associated with different unit classes. We focused on the Ongoing Charges Figure (OCF), which is referenced in the funds' Key Investor Information Document (or for certain funds, the Key Information Document) and reflects the funds' total annual costs. Our analysis looked at the following factors for our unit classes and funds:

- Itemised fee structure, including management charges, service charges and other directly charged operational expenses
- Costs and charges relative to competitors
- Costs and charges relative to other BlackRock products and services
- Fee caps and waivers
- Fund-level profitability for our UK authorised funds

Our conclusions

We concluded that the large majority of our funds and unit classes delivered value for investors. BlackRock applies a consistent approach to setting the level of each individual fee item, which considers factors such as asset class, management style and target investor. If a fund or individual unit class was not priced appropriately for the services provided, an explanation has been given in Section 4: Fund Pages.

The BFM Board will continue to partner with BlackRock to ensure funds' costs and charges are aligned with investors' expectations of risk and return.

The BFM Board will continue to partner with BlackRock to ensure that funds' costs and charges are aligned with investors' expectations of risk and return. Charges should be fair and appropriate to the services received and reasonable in relation to the underlying cost of providing those services.

Economies of Scale

As a global investment manager, BlackRock leverages its scale and passes on cost savings to fund investors.

Our evaluation method

Working in conjunction with BlackRock, the BFM Board examined how BlackRock achieves scale and how this ultimately benefits fund investors. We focused on three ways in which BlackRock shares its economies of scale:

- Pricing power with service providers: BlackRock leverages its global scale to negotiate highly competitive rates with third-party service providers. These relationships are essential for delivering efficient, risk-controlled processes. The negotiated, improved rates with the funds' service providers are passed on to investors through reduced service charges. These have resulted in cost savings for investors across the fund range.
- Expense caps: Given that the fixed costs of operating a fund may disproportionately affect small or newly launched funds, BlackRock has processes in place to ensure that fund expenses are competitive regardless of fund size. For smaller funds or those with high operating costs, BlackRock and the BFM Board decide whether an expense cap should be applied to lower the effective fee for end investors. This ensures that funds are priced to benefit from BlackRock's scale from the time of launch.
- Reinvestment: As a global business, BlackRock reinvests substantial amounts of revenue annually into its centralised operational, technology and investment platforms. We considered how these reinvestments deliver benefits and enrich investors' experience through better trade execution, robust risk management and compliance. We also considered the positive impact on investment teams' capabilities and improved client servicing.

Our conclusions

We concluded that investors in all our UK authorised funds, regardless of size, benefitted from economies of scale. These benefits include:

- Pricing power with service providers: BlackRock uses its global scale and longstanding relationships to negotiate preferable rates with external service providers. We share the cost savings with fund investors.
- Expense caps: BlackRock maintains a policy of capping expenses on small funds to limit the impact of external costs for small and newly launched funds. During the assessment period, we passed on savings of £1.9 million to investors through expense caps across 55 funds.
- Industry-leading technology: BlackRock's Aladdin platform combines sophisticated risk analytics with comprehensive portfolio management, trading, liquidity management, compliance and accounting tools.

BFM passed on savings of £1.9 million to investors via expense caps across 55 funds.

- BlackRock Investment Stewardship (BIS): Over the last decade, BlackRock has built one of the largest and most diverse investment stewardship teams in the industry. This reflects both the importance of stewardship as a core component of BlackRock's fiduciary responsibility to our clients and the industry's evolving understanding of how corporate governance and sustainability can impact companies' long-term financial performance. In January 2022, BlackRock expanded the proxy voting options to certain funds¹ to allow certain clients to vote according to their own policies (or to continue using BIS to vote on their behalf). BlackRock is also working with industry partners on a pilot programme that aims to enable all investors in a UK authorised index fund – institutions and individuals – to choose how their votes are cast.
- BlackRock Investment Institute (BII): BlackRock's proprietary research group, BII provides analysis on the global economy, markets, geopolitics and long-term asset allocation. BII's insights enable BlackRock's portfolio managers and clients to navigate increasingly complex markets against a backdrop of heightened geopolitical tensions and rising interest rates.
- BlackRock Sustainable & Transition Solutions (STS): BlackRock is a global leader in sustainable investing. It draws on research across its investment teams and BII to understand the relationship between climate- and sustainability-related factors and investment returns. We believe that climate risk is investment risk. By integrating climate and sustainability considerations into our investment process we can help investors build more resilient portfolios and achieve better long-term, risk-adjusted returns.
- Unique insights: BlackRock has a vast investment platform comprising 2,750+ investment professionals globally across different asset classes, with an average tenure of more than seven years. Portfolio managers supporting our UK authorised fund range benefit from this collective intelligence and shared deep market expertise to generate meaningful investment ideas across multiple disciplines.

The BFM Board is committed to working with BlackRock to grow economies of scale by continuing to reinvest in its technology and investment platforms. We will continue to engage with service providers, including BlackRock, to monitor costs and negotiate terms. The BFM Board will continue to partner with BlackRock to ensure that economies of scale are passed on to fund investors.

Sharing further economies of scale with our investors and determining how to do so most effectively has been a key priority over the past few years. We have made considerable progress in this area by implementing a tiered pricing model for a number of funds within our UK authorised fund range in October 2023. Discounts are applied to the Annual Management Charge as the size of the eligible fund increases above a certain level. In doing so, we will be able to reduce fees for our investors where appropriate. For full details on this policy, please refer to the relevant fund's prospectus.

¹ The expanded proxy voting programme has been available to institutional index equity investors in the BlackRock Authorised Contractual Scheme I and the BlackRock Authorised Contractual Scheme II since 1 January 2022.

Introducing our Annual Management Charge (AMC) tiered pricing model

Since 6 October 2023, the management fee-bearing classes for a number of BFM funds within our UK authorised fund range have employed a new AMC tiered pricing model. This means that as the fund grows in size, its AMC is discounted and savings are automatically passed on to the investors. The model applies to actively managed funds targeted to retail investors, meaning the following types of funds are excluded:

- Funds targeted primarily at institutional investors, where the fees are separately negotiated with clients; and
- Index funds and funds-of-funds that are primarily invested in index or index-style building blocks, as index funds are priced at scale at launch through mechanisms such as fee caps

The discounts to the AMC that apply for a fund are calculated daily and are based on the size of the fund, as measured by its AUM. This means that the level of discount applied and the effective AMC of the fund can increase or decrease on a daily basis, depending on the AUM. The discounts are applied in tiers with the rates determined by the proportion of the applicable fund's AUM that falls within the ranges as stated in its discount schedule. This means that only the proportion of the fund's AUM that falls within each particular tier receives the applicable discount for that tier. Investors in funds that are eligible will have been notified on 6 September 2023. The discount schedule, which could vary by fund, is provided in the respective fund prospectus for the eligible funds.

Quality of Service

BlackRock provides high-quality service through its investment and risk management processes, fund operations and overall investor experience.

Our evaluation method

Working in conjunction with BlackRock, the BFM Board evaluated the quality of service we provided to fund investors. Our holistic review was based on the evaluation of four key service factors. We considered a host of internal management information (MI), such as client experience surveys and external metrics from third parties, including publications such as the Broadridge Fund Buyer Focus UK country report, in our assessment.

- Investment management: We assessed core services — such as the research and investment process, investment team quality and diversity, process integrity and liquidity management — all of which we see as minimum requirements for delivering value to investors. We also considered the value of additional services, including:
 - The quality of investment ideas generated by proprietary research and the sharing of insights among BlackRock's 2,750+ investment professionals globally through the BlackRock Investment Institute.
 - The impact of BlackRock's Investment Stewardship team who engage with companies to advocate sound governance and business practices that underpin sustainable, long-term financial returns. In 2022, as part of their structured, year-round engagement programme, the BIS team engaged with 2,580+ companies across 51 markets.
 - The innovations delivered by BlackRock's Sustainable & Transition Solutions team. The team identifies the ESG considerations that drive long-term investment returns and integrates them into BlackRock's investment processes.
- Risk management: We reviewed standard risk management policies, procedures and governance processes. Furthermore, we examined whether operational issues affecting individual funds had impacted the quality of service provided to investors. We assessed these issues by using quantitative inputs from existing enterprise risk procedures. We also considered the value to investors of additional services, such as:
 - BlackRock's dedicated RQA group. This group partners with our portfolio management teams to monitor and analyse risk and provide customised daily reporting of risk levels and scenario analysis.
 - Aladdin portfolio management and risk technology. This service helps BlackRock's portfolio managers to identify potential issues, such as concentration risk (the cumulative exposure to a particular risk across sectors, issuers and countries).
- Client experience: We considered findings from the Broadridge Fund Buyer Focus UK country report, an independent assessment that evaluates fund managers based on interviews with investors. Additionally, BlackRock conducted a global client experience survey of more than 650 institutional investors. The results allowed us to compare BlackRock's service quality to competitors in the UK and overseas.

Investors in all of our UK authorised funds benefitted from high-quality core and additional services.

- Fund operations: We evaluated the requirements for highly-scalable fund operations to ensure their stability and effectiveness. These included administrative services, vendor management, robust compliance and regulatory controls and resilient IT systems. We considered metrics from service quality reports from Fund Administrators and Transfer Agencies. We also flagged any funds that experienced material operating events or complaints, caused due to issues committed by BlackRock or a third party. In any such instance, we strive to identify and address them appropriately and introduce adequate controls for mitigation in future.

Our conclusions

We concluded that investors in all of our UK authorised funds benefitted from high-quality core and additional services. Additionally, the results of our global client experience survey confirmed a positive overall client experience, as well as a positive experience at all the key stages along the client journey.

This assessment revealed that all funds provided the high standard of service quality that we would expect for our investors. Further details can be found in Section 4: Fund Pages.

BlackRock's investment platform spans active, index and outcome-oriented strategies, enabling us to offer funds that meet a wide range of investor needs. Whatever the product, the BFM Board believes that good service quality is essential. We continue to partner with BlackRock to monitor and improve the value provided to investors through both core and additional services.

Classes of Units

BlackRock offers a range of unit classes tailored to different types of investors.

Our evaluation method

BlackRock offers a range of unit classes across its UK authorised funds. These unit classes have varying eligibility criteria, rights and expenses based on investor type, holdings and how the fund is accessed. The range of unit classes may vary by fund depending on the target distribution channels and investor base.

Working in conjunction with BlackRock, the BFM Board assessed all direct investors to ensure that they were invested in the most appropriate and lowest-charging eligible unit class. We examined investor type, amount invested and how the fund was accessed. Where applicable, we considered whether the investor's intermediary (such as a financial adviser) received commission.

Our conclusions

Although most of BlackRock's UK authorised funds are distributed by financial advisers and intermediaries, they are also available to direct investors. In line with its fiduciary responsibilities, BlackRock has taken steps in recent years to move direct investors to lower-charging unit classes of the same fund with similar rights, when doing so was deemed to be in the investors' best interests.

Working in conjunction with BlackRock, the BFM Board has continued our programme of unit class conversions. During the assessment period, we identified certain investors eligible for a lower-charging unit class within the same fund. We also enhanced our ability to source and review investor data, thereby improving our ability to identify investors eligible for conversions to lower-charging unit classes.

Consequently, between June and October 2023, we oversaw 237 conversions to lower-charging unit classes across 14 funds, resulting in an estimated annualised saving of £40,000 for BFM fund investors.

Our assessment concluded that all investors in our UK authorised funds are in the most appropriate and lowest-charging unit class for which they are eligible. Further details can be found in Section 4: Fund Pages.

The BFM Board will continue to ensure that investors are invested in the most appropriate charging unit class consistent with their best interests.

Where our records indicate nominees or agents investing on behalf of their underlying investors, BlackRock cannot ascertain whether it would be acting in the best interests of underlying investors by proposing a mandatory conversion. BlackRock is committed to continue sending an annual letter to those nominees or agents reminding them of their obligations under the FCA Asset Management Market Study and related FCA rules and guidance so that they can take appropriate action, if necessary, to convert the underlying investors to units of lower charging management fee unit classes where this is in the best interests of investors.

Overall value statement

Our review determined that the fund delivered value.

Performance (Index)

Our assessment concluded that the fund delivered on its objective of tracking its benchmark within a reasonable margin over the one-year period.

Costs, charges & service quality

We reviewed the AFM costs associated with the fund, together with the quality of service provided and the benefits generated by our economies of scale. We concluded that the fund was priced appropriately. The fund does not charge a management fee within the fund. Its fees are typically negotiated directly with institutional investors and charged outside the fund. This means that the fund's OCF excludes management fees. For this reason, the fund had no meaningful peer group. However, taking this into account, its OCF was in line with similar BlackRock products.

Overall value statement

Our review determined that the fund delivered value.

Performance (Index)

Our assessment concluded that the fund outperformed its benchmark, net of fees, over the one-year period, delivering a return outside the expected range of tracking difference versus the benchmark. The investors can place trades up until the valuation point of the fund. However, the markets in which the underlying equity securities in the fund are traded do not close at the same time as this valuation point. The fund may utilise futures for cash management purposes, including inflows, where the equity markets have already closed. Sometimes there is tracking misalignment between the futures' prices and equity prices when those markets re-open. On occasion, this leads to a tracking difference versus the benchmark. However, we do not expect this to have a material impact on the fund's ability to track the benchmark over the long term.

Costs, charges & service quality

We reviewed the AFM costs associated with the fund, together with the quality of service provided and the benefits generated by our economies of scale. We concluded that the fund was priced appropriately. The fund does not charge a management fee within the fund. Its fees are typically negotiated directly with institutional investors and charged outside the fund. This means that the fund's OCF excludes management fees. For this reason, the fund had no meaningful peer group. However, taking this into account, its OCF was in line with similar BlackRock products.

Our assessment concluded that the fund delivered on its objective of tracking its benchmark within a reasonable margin over the one-year period.

Costs, charges & service quality

We reviewed the AFM costs associated with the fund, together with the quality of service provided and the benefits generated by our economies of scale. We concluded that the fund was priced appropriately. The fund does not charge a management fee within the fund. Its fees are typically negotiated directly with institutional investors and charged outside the fund. This means that the fund's OCF excludes management fees. For this reason, the fund had no meaningful peer group. However, taking this into account, its OCF was in line with similar BlackRock products.

Overall value statement

Our review determined that the fund overall delivered value. However, the fund underperformed over the assessment period and we have decided to take action to improve value further. We have initiated enhanced monitoring of the fund's performance, which includes a review of the investment process.

Performance (Active)

Our assessment concluded that the fund underperformed its benchmark, net of fees, over the three- and five-year periods. The fund also did not deliver a positive absolute return, gross of fees, over the 12-month period. It underperformed when compared to a customised group of the most comparable peers over the three- and five-year periods. The custom peer group was independently reviewed and verified by Broadridge for its appropriateness for performance comparison. The fund's underperformance was largely influenced by challenges in the first half of 2023. The primary driver of this underperformance was an active position in long-duration bonds, which was impacted by persistently higher inflation in the UK. Due to the underperformance in the first half of 2023, we have initiated enhanced performance monitoring of the fund, which includes a review of the investment process.

Costs, charges & service quality

We reviewed the AFM costs associated with the fund, together with the quality of service provided and the benefits generated by our economies of scale. We concluded that the fund was priced appropriately. We also confirmed that it was priced at a reasonable level compared to both an external peer group determined by the IA and to similar BlackRock products.

Overall value statement

Our review determined that the fund did not consistently deliver value following a review of its costs & charges. Prior to the value assessment, the fund was flagged for review as part of our ongoing fund governance. This review resulted in the decision to close the fund based on several factors, including low investor interest, poor commercial viability and anticipated further decline in AUM creating diseconomies of scale which may lead to increased costs and challenged performance. Investors were informed in June 2023 and the fund was liquidated in September 2023. The fund was included in our value assessment as it held assets on the report reference date. The closure of the fund is reflective of BlackRock's long-term commitment to regularly review its funds holistically and take action when warranted.

Performance (Index)

Our assessment concluded that the fund delivered on its objective of tracking its benchmark within a reasonable margin over the one-year period.

Costs, charges & service quality

We reviewed the AFM costs associated with the fund, together with the quality of service provided and the benefits generated by our economies of scale. The fund does not charge a management fee within the fund. Its fees are typically negotiated directly with institutional investors and charged outside the fund. This means that the fund's OCF excludes management fees. We observed that due to a significant decline in fund AUM, the OCF charged by the fund started to rise due to fixed expenses and other ongoing costs increasing relative to declining fund assets. We concluded that the charges were high when compared to external peers and similar BlackRock products. After reviewing the fund, based on its scale and commercial viability, we decided to close this fund. The fund's investors were informed, and it was liquidated on 14th September, prior to the publication of this report.

Overall value statement

Our review determined that the fund overall delivered value. However, the fund underperformed over the assessment period and we have decided to take action to improve value further. We have initiated enhanced monitoring of the fund's performance, which includes a review of the investment process.

Performance (Outcome-oriented)

Our assessment concluded that the fund, which had a track record of less than five years, underperformed its benchmark, net of fees, over the three-year period. The underperformance was largely driven by a large position in UK listed alternatives, in particular renewable energy infrastructure. These investments were negatively impacted by lower power prices and rising interest rates. The underperformance was also driven by an underweight allocation to equities versus the benchmark. The underweight position was in place given the high degree of uncertainty around the decisions that major central banks would make on interest rates in balancing the trade-off between fighting inflation and supporting economic growth. In particular, a small number of large technology companies, that were in the benchmark but not owned by the fund, significantly outperformed. Due to this underperformance, we have initiated enhanced performance monitoring of the fund, which includes a review of the investment process. The fund adhered to its ESG investment policy from inception to date.¹

Overall value statement

Our review determined that the fund overall delivered value. However, the fund underperformed over the assessment period and we have decided to take action to improve value further. We have initiated enhanced monitoring of the fund's performance, which includes a review of the investment process.

Performance (Outcome-oriented)

In last year's assessment, the fund was too new to rate, with less than twelve months of relevant performance since the investment objective and benchmark were materially changed.

This year, our assessment concluded that the fund underperformed its benchmark, net of fees, since those changes occurred. The fund underperformed when compared to its Morningstar peer group, which includes sustainable and non-sustainable funds, over the same period. The underperformance was driven by the strong performance of large technology companies that were in the benchmark, but were not owned by the fund. The fund's underperformance was also driven by the strong performance of energy companies, that were in the benchmark but were not owned by the fund due to its sustainability constraints and the investment team's desire to avoid exposure to high-carbon emitters. Due to this underperformance, we have initiated enhanced performance monitoring of the fund, which includes a review of the investment process. The fund delivered on its ESG objectives over the assessment period.

Overall value statement

Our review determined that the fund overall delivered value. However, the fund underperformed over the assessment period and we have decided to take action to improve value further. We have initiated enhanced monitoring of the fund's performance, which includes a review of the investment process.

Performance (Active)

Our assessment concluded that the fund underperformed its benchmark, net of fees, over the three- and five-year periods. It also did not deliver on its objective of providing a 3.5% return per annum in excess of the Bank of England's Base Interest Rate, gross of fees, over the three- and five-year periods. It also failed to deliver better risk-adjusted returns when compared to a customised group of the most comparable peers over the three- and five-year periods. The custom peer group was independently reviewed and verified by Broadridge for its appropriateness for performance comparison. Risk-adjusted returns were considered due to the investment style of the fund and the substantial variation in equity weight across different peers. Long term performance of the fund was impacted by negative returns for both bonds and equities in 2022. As a result, it was extremely challenging for a fund that is broadly invested in stocks and bonds to provide a cash plus return. Due to this underperformance, we have initiated enhanced performance monitoring of the fund, which includes a review of the investment process.

Costs, charges & service quality

We reviewed the AFM costs associated with the fund, together with the quality of service provided and the benefits generated by our economies of scale. We concluded that the fund was priced appropriately. We also confirmed that it was priced at a reasonable level compared to both an external peer group determined by the IA and to similar BlackRock products. The Specialist sector, assigned by the IA, includes funds that have an investment universe that is not accommodated by mainstream sectors. We therefore also reviewed the fund against an independently selected custom peer group recommended by Fitz Partners. We found that the fund was priced appropriately on this basis.

We concluded that the fund was priced appropriately. We also confirmed that it was priced at a reasonable level compared to both an external peer group determined by the IA and to similar BlackRock products. The Specialist sector, assigned by the IA, includes funds that have an investment universe that is not accommodated by mainstream sectors. We therefore also reviewed the fund against an independently selected custom peer group recommended by Fitz Partners. We found that the fund was priced appropriately on this basis.

BlackRock ESG Strategic Growth Fund

BlackRock Investment Funds

The fund aims to provide a return on investment over any period of seven consecutive years of 4.5% per annum (gross of fees) over the Bank of England's Base Interest Rate, in a manner consistent with the principles of ESG-focused investing. In addition, the fund aims to have a volatility that is lower than the volatility of the monthly returns of the MSCI All Country World Index (GBP) over any period of seven consecutive years.

Overall value statement

Our review determined that the fund delivered value.

Performance (Outcome-oriented)

Our assessment concluded that the fund underperformed its benchmark, net of fees, over the three-year period. It also did not deliver on its objective of providing a 4.5% return per annum in excess of the Bank of England Base Interest Rate, gross of fees, over the three-year period. While the fund had a track record of less than seven years, its volatility was within range over the three-year period. It also delivered better risk-adjusted returns than a customised group of the most comparable peers over the three-year period. The custom peer group was independently reviewed and verified by Broadridge for its appropriateness for performance comparison. Risk-adjusted returns were considered due to the investment style of the fund and the substantial variation in equity weight across different peers. The fund was repositioned to include an ESG objective on 30 November 2020 and has delivered on its ESG objective since then.

We reviewed the AFM costs associated with the fund, together with the quality of service provided and the benefits generated by our economies of scale. Overall value statement

Our review determined that the fund overall delivered value. However, the fund underperformed over the assessment period and we have decided to take action to improve value further. We have initiated enhanced monitoring of the fund's performance, which includes a review of the investment process.

Performance (Active)

Our assessment concluded that the fund underperformed its benchmark, net of fees, over the three- and five-year periods. The fund underperformed when compared to its Morningstar peer group over the same periods. The underperformance was largely due to an active position in long-duration bonds which was impacted by a spike in gilt yields following the UK's mini-budget in September 2022. Due to this underperformance, we have initiated enhanced performance monitoring of the fund, which includes a review of the investment process.

Costs, charges & service quality

We reviewed the AFM costs associated with the fund, together with the quality of service provided and the benefits generated by our economies of scale. We concluded that the fund was priced appropriately. We also confirmed that it was priced at a reasonable level compared to both an external peer group determined by the IA and to similar BlackRock products.

Classes of units

We reviewed the charges in the fund's various unit classes. No unit holders were eligible for conversion to a lower-priced unit class.

Overall value statement

Our review determined that the fund delivered value.

Performance (Active)

Our assessment concluded that the fund underperformed its benchmark, net of fees, over the three- and five-year periods. It also did not deliver on its objective of providing a 2% return per annum in excess of the FTSE All-Share Index, gross of fees, over the five-year period. However, the fund performed better than the median of its Morningstar peer group over the three-year period and outperformed its Morningstar peer group over the five-year period, ranking in the top quartile.

Costs, charges & service quality

We reviewed the AFM costs associated with the fund, together with the quality of service provided and the benefits generated by our economies of scale. We concluded that the fund was priced appropriately. The fund does not charge a management fee within the fund. Overall value statement

Our review determined that the fund did not consistently deliver value. The fund underperformed over the assessment period and we have decided to take action in the form of enhancements to the fund prospectus, improvement in the investment process and continuation of enhanced performance monitoring of the fund.

Performance (Active)

Our assessment concluded that the fund underperformed its benchmark, net of fees, over the three- and five-year periods. As a consequence of a particularly challenging market environment in 2022, the fund did not meet its objective of providing a 3.5% return in excess of the 3-month SONIA rate, gross of fees, over the five-year period.

Much like last year, the current underperformance versus the cash plus benchmark is driven by the negative returns of both equity and bond markets in 2022 that were significant enough to affect the fund's long-term track record. 2022 was a difficult year for financial markets with equity and bond markets falling in response to recessionary fears, supply side inflation shocks, the ongoing Russia-Ukraine conflict and interest rate increases. We note that it was extremely challenging for a fund that is broadly invested in stocks and bonds to provide a cash plus return in the recent environment.

Last year, the fund was identified for enhanced performance monitoring and a review of its investment process. Following a review of the investment process, we remain of the view that the fund's core strategy has continued to deliver an important benefit of providing balanced exposure to markets for its clients, that are predominantly large, sophisticated institutional investors for whom managing volatility is an important goal in their portfolio. The fund performance has also shown signs of recovery since September 2022 and we expect the fund to deliver on its investment objective over the long term. The fund has consistently delivered value to investors on all other aspects of value assessment including fair costs and charges and a high quality of service.

The team improved the investment process further to be more responsive to the prevailing macroeconomic environment and better manage periods of high volatility in the markets. These enhancements are designed to contribute to improved performance over time. Therefore, the fund will remain on enhanced performance monitoring. We will also make further enhancements and clarifications to the fund's investment process and strategy in the prospectus that will better articulate to the investors how the fund aims to achieve its objective through a balanced exposure to markets.

Although it has not outperformed its benchmark during this current and previous assessment periods, we have confidence in the fund's investment strategy and its ability to deliver value for its investors on all aspects of assessment, including performance.

Our review determined that the fund overall delivered value. However, the fund underperformed over the assessment period and we have decided to take action to improve value further. We have initiated enhanced monitoring of the fund's performance, which includes a review of the investment process.

Our assessment concluded that the fund underperformed its benchmark, net of fees, over the three-year period. The fund also did not deliver on its objective of providing a return of 0.3% per annum, in excess of its benchmark, gross of fees, over the three-year period. The fund's objective should be assessed over a seven- to ten-year period, although the fund only has three years of performance history. Most of the underperformance is due to the costs of initially investing fund assets at the time of launch. When we considered performance with the initial launch costs removed, the fund slightly missed its alpha target, gross of fees, and performed below the median of both its Morningstar peer group and a customised group of the most comparable peers. The custom peer group was independently reviewed and verified by Broadridge for its appropriateness for performance comparison. Due to this underperformance, we have initiated enhanced performance monitoring of the fund, which includes a review of the investment process.

BlackRock UK Fund

Overall value statement

Our review determined that the fund overall delivered value. However, the fund underperformed over the assessment period and we have decided that the fund will remain on enhanced performance monitoring.

Performance (Active)

Our assessment concluded that the fund underperformed its benchmark, net of fees, over the three- and five-year periods. The fund underperformed when compared to its Morningstar peer group over the same periods. Performance over the three- and five-year periods is largely impacted by the underperformance that the fund suffered during the 2022 calendar year. 2022 was a difficult year for financial markets with equity markets falling in response to recessionary fears, supply side inflation shocks, the ongoing Russia-Ukraine conflict and interest rate rises. The underperformance in the fund was largely driven by the overall underperformance of growth stocks and outperformance of value stocks due to a rise in bond yields during 2022. Last year, the fund was identified as requiring enhanced performance monitoring and a review of its investment process as it had underperformed its benchmark, net of fees, over the three- and five-year periods. Performance of the fund has steadily improved since the fund's portfolio manager changed in December 2022. The fund will remain on enhanced performance monitoring as we continue to track the impact of this change.

Costs, charges & service quality

We reviewed the AFM costs associated with the fund, together with the quality of service provided and the benefits generated by our economies of scale. We concluded that the fund was priced appropriately. We also confirmed that it was priced at a reasonable level compared to both an external peer group determined by the IA and to similar BlackRock products.

Classes of units

Following a review of the charges for unit classes within the fund, unitholders eligible for a lower-priced unit class were identified and converted to the lower-priced class.

Overall value statement

Our review determined that the fund delivered value.

Performance (Index)

In last year's assessment, the fund was too new to rate with less than twelve months of performance. This year, our assessment concluded that the fund underperformed its benchmark, net of fees, over the one-year period, delivering a return outside the expected range of tracking difference versus the benchmark. The investors can place trades up until the valuation point of the fund. However, the markets in which the underlying equity securities in the fund are traded do not close at the same time as this valuation point. The fund may utilise futures for cash management purposes, including inflows, where the equity markets have already closed. Sometimes, there is tracking misalignment between the futures' prices and equity prices when those markets re-open. On occasion, this leads to a tracking difference versus the benchmark. However, we do not expect this to have a material impact on the fund's ability to track the benchmark over the long term.

We reviewed the AFM costs associated with the fund, together with the quality of service provided and the benefits generated by our economies of scale. We concluded that the fund was priced appropriately. Overall value statement

Our review determined that the fund delivered value.

Performance (Index)

This year, our assessment concluded that the fund outperformed its benchmark, net of fees, over the one-year period, delivering a return outside the expected range of tracking difference versus the benchmark. The investors can place trades up until the valuation point of the fund. However, the markets on which the underlying equity securities in the fund are traded do not close at the same time as this valuation point. The fund may utilise futures for cash management purposes, including inflows, where the equity markets have already closed. Sometimes, there is tracking misalignment between the futures' prices and equity prices when those markets re-open. On occasion, this leads to a tracking difference versus the benchmark. However, we do not expect this to have a material impact on the fund's ability to track the benchmark over the long term.
