

Go long on the short end

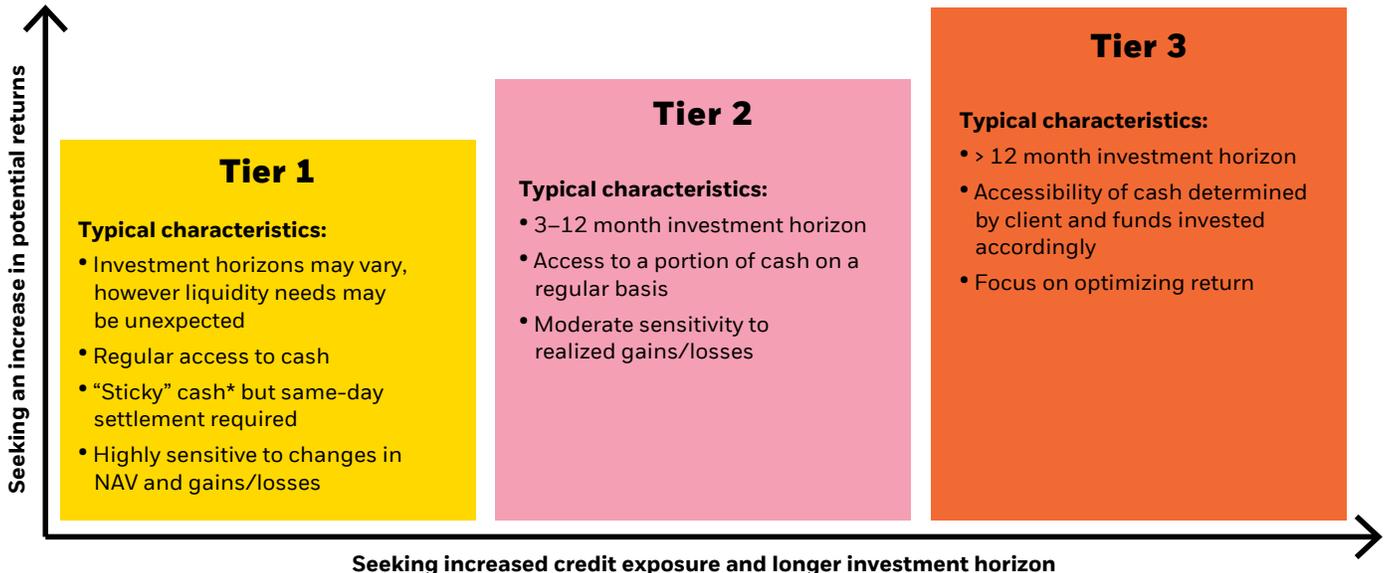

Exploring opportunities in today’s market

Every day investors evaluate fixed income, equity and alternative investment strategies for their portfolios. In addition to these strategies, we encourage investors to take a holistic approach to their cash and short duration investments. We believe cash and short-term investment strategies should be viewed as a separate asset class that seeks to deliver attractive risk-adjusted returns and helps provide stability and liquidity within a fixed income portfolio. As such, we believe effective segmentation strategies can be applied for individual and institutional investors alike to maximize the returns on cash holdings. BlackRock offers a wide array of investment solutions that seek to meet the unique liquidity and return needs of our clients. Outlining cash management options may allow investors to take advantage of different strategies over the course of each interest rate cycle.

Begin with a view of cash management needs

Each investor has a different time horizon for their cash needs. In order to prepare for these cash needs, these conversations start with a segmentation discussion. We break that down in this guide. An investor’s cash typically falls into three distinct categories or tiers. Understanding liquidity needs can help investors segment their cash and identify opportunities to optimize. While a company’s investment policy will typically dictate their own definitions, generally we see some variation of the following classifications.

Investment strategies to balance varying objectives

For illustrative purposes only; this graph represents a sample segmentation of a client cash profile. *“Sticky” cash is defined as cash that is not needed immediately but could be needed within a short timeframe.

What investment solution works best for you?

BlackRock offers a variety of investment solutions across investment products including fixed income exchange-traded funds (“ETFs”) and mutual funds within the three common categories depicted above. When considering these investment options, we believe investors should carefully consider their individual risk tolerance, liquidity needs, customization requirements, investment horizon and accounting implications to determine the optimal investment options to meet their investment objectives. We share some of the features of each investment option below:

ETF

Pros

Transparency

Holdings typically disclosed daily, precision of risk exposure and ease of use.

Liquidity

Intraday exchange liquidity – actionable two-way quotes during U.S. market hours.

Access

ETFs are available on a variety of investor platforms.

Mutual fund

Simplicity

Mutual funds and their respective exposure to a single or multiple asset classes can be easily comprehended.

Access

Investors can gain exposure to specific asset classes and markets which may not otherwise be available to them.

Diversity

Many mutual funds are diversified, investing broadly in thousands of different investment securities.

Liquidity

Redemptions are typically available with T+1 or T+2 settlement.

Cost efficiency

Many mutual funds have lower minimum initial investment requirements.

Cons

Lack of flexibility

The majority of fixed income ETFs are passively managed and may not meet specific client guidelines. (Note that some of the ETFs shown in this piece are actively managed.)

Flat fees

One share class structure, through an equity ETF wrapper.

Accounting

Fixed income ETFs are classified as trading securities; investors must recognize unrealized gains/losses on income statements.

No customization

Client does not own the actual bonds and does not have the ability to customize the guidelines as needed.

Why BlackRock for cash management and short duration?

Scale	Performance	Client focus
We believe it matters, particularly in cash or short duration management. Our ability to accommodate investors' flows – both large and small, across product types – and our access to the market is a direct result of our platform of scale.	We strive to deliver performance consistent with a fund or strategy's objective. Yield is important, but most clients tell us capital preservation is their primary objective; we recognize the importance of capital preservation in this asset class.	The rising complexity of managing cash has compelled clients to ask more questions and seek better results. We believe we have the ability to respond more effectively through customized solutions and innovative strategies.

The Funds are not money market funds and are not subject to the strict rules that govern the quality, maturity, liquidity and other features of securities that money market funds may purchase. Under normal circumstances, the Funds' investments may be more susceptible than a money market fund is to credit risk, interest rate risk, valuation risk and other risks relevant to the Funds' investments. The Funds do not seek to maintain a stable net asset value of $1.00 per share.

¹ Expenses are as of the most current prospectus. Investment dividend expense, interest expense, acquired fund fees and expenses and certain other fund expenses are included in the Net. BlackRock may contractually agree to waive or reimburse certain fees and expenses until a specified date. The investment advisor and/or other service providers may also voluntarily agree to waive certain fees and expenses which can be discontinued at any time without notice. When waivers or reimbursements are in place, the operating expenses are reduced and total returns to the shareholder in the fund increase. With respect to BISOX and BASOX: BlackRock Advisors, LLC ("BlackRock") has contractually agreed to waive the management fee with respect to any portion of the Fund's assets estimated to be attributable to investments in other equity and fixed-income mutual funds and exchange-traded funds managed by BlackRock or its affiliates that have a contractual management fee, through November 30, 2021. The contractual agreement may be terminated upon 90 days' notice by a majority of the non-interested trustees of the Trust or by a vote of a majority of the outstanding voting securities of the Fund. BlackRock has contractually agreed to waive and/or reimburse fees and/or expenses in order to limit Total Annual Fund Operating Expenses After Fee Waivers and/or Expense Reimbursements (excluding Dividend Expense, Interest Expense, Acquired Fund Fees and Expenses and certain other Fund expenses) to 0.35% of average daily net assets through November 30, 2021 for BISOX and to 0.60% of average daily net assets through November 30, 2021 for BASOX. The Fund may have to repay some of these waivers and/or reimbursements to BlackRock in the following two years. The contractual agreement may be terminated upon 90 days' notice by a majority of the non-interested trustees of the Trust or by a vote of a majority of the outstanding voting securities of the Fund. Please see the prospectus for additional information. ² iShares Funds do not impose any minimum investment for shares purchased on an exchange or otherwise in the secondary market. ³ Minimum investment is $5 million. ⁴ Minimum investment is $1,000. * As of December 31, 2020. AUM is shown at the fund level for products with multiple share classes. Duration is the effective duration, which measures the sensitivity of the price of a bond with or without embedded options to changes in interest rates, taking into account the likelihood of the bond being called, put and/or sunk prior to its final maturity date while incorporating after-tax impacts on the bond. The options-based duration model used by BlackRock employs certain assumptions and may differ from other fund complexes. Effective duration is measured at the individual bond level, aggregated to the portfolio level, and adjusted for leverage, hedging transactions and non-bond holdings, including derivatives if applicable. International investing involves risks, including risks related to foreign currency, limited liquidity, less government regulation and the possibility of substantial volatility due to adverse political, economic or other developments. These risks often are heightened for investments in emerging/developing markets or in concentrations of single countries.

An investment in the funds is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency and its return and yield will fluctuate with market conditions.

Securities with floating or variable interest rates may decline in value if their coupon rates do not keep pace with comparable market interest rates. The Fund's income may decline when interest rates fall because most of the debt instruments held by the Fund will have floating or variable rates.

Funds that concentrate investments in specific industries, sectors, markets or asset classes may underperform or be more volatile than other industries, sectors, markets or asset classes and than the general securities market.

The iShares Short Maturity Bond ETF (NEAR) will invest in privately issued securities that have not been registered under the Securities Act of 1933 and as a result are subject to legal restrictions on resale. Privately issued securities are not traded on established markets and may be illiquid, difficult to value and subject to wide fluctuations in value. Delay or difficulty in selling such securities may result in a loss to the iShares Short Maturity Bond ETF. The fund may invest in asset-backed ("ABS") and mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") which are subject to credit, prepayment and extension risk, and react differently to changes in interest rates than other bonds. Small movements in interest rates may quickly reduce the value of certain ABS and MBS.

Fixed income risks include interest-rate and credit risk. Typically, when interest rates rise, there is a corresponding decline in bond values. Credit risk refers to the possibility that the bond issuer will not be able to make principal and interest payments.

There may be less information on the financial condition of municipal issuers than for public corporations. The market for municipal bonds may be less liquid than for taxable bonds. Some investors may be subject to federal or state income taxes or the Alternative Minimum Tax (AMT). Capital gains distributions, if any, are taxable.

Securities with floating or variable interest rates may decline in value if their coupon rates do not keep pace with comparable market interest rates. The Fund's income may decline when interest rates fall because most of the debt instruments held by the Fund will have floating or variable rates.

MEAR, NEAR and ICSH (the “Funds”) are actively managed Funds and do not seek to replicate the performance of a specified index. Actively managed funds may have higher portfolio turnover than index funds. The Funds are not money market funds and are not subject to the strict rules that govern the quality, maturity, liquidity and other features of securities that money market funds may purchase. Under normal circumstances, the Funds’ investments may be more susceptible than a money market fund is to credit risk, interest rate risk, valuation risk and other risks relevant to the Funds’ investments. The Funds do not seek to maintain a stable net asset value of $1.00 per share. The Funds will hold securities with floating or variable interest rates which may decline in value if their coupon rates do not reset as high, or as quickly, as comparable market interest rates. Although floating rate notes are less sensitive to interest rate risk than fixed rate securities, they are subject to credit and default risk, which could impair their value.
