Commentary as of 06/30/24

- The fund posted returns of 1.04% (Institutional shares) and 1.07% (Investor A shares, without sales charge) for the second quarter of 2024.
- An exposure to the utility sector in Puerto Rico drove positive relative performance during the quarter.
- The fund started with a duration exposure (interest rate sensitivity) well above that of the benchmark, and even though we reduced this position, it remained overweight at quarter-end. We retained an overweight holding in municipal bonds maturing in 15-25 years and an overweight position in credit rated between A and BBB.

Contributors	Detractors
The strongest contributor to performance was an exposure to the utility sector in Puerto Rico. The fund also benefited from its below-benchmark allocation to bonds maturing in 5-10 years as this part of the tax-exempt yield curve performed weakly.	The fund's interest rate hedge (short U.S. Treasury futures exposure) detracted from performance during the quarter.

Further insight

Fund activity focused on a couple of themes: extending call protection to lock in durable yield continued to be a main goal as interest rates remain elevated, and increasing coupon protection by moving away from 4% coupons as prices approached par and re-investing the proceeds into 5% or higher coupons. Diversification also remains a key theme, given typical issuer concentrations in New York specifically, as the fund sought out those opportunities mainly through new issuance. New York new issuance was robust during the quarter, in-line with overall new tax-exempt issuance and marking a significant increase compared with a year earlier. Despite the uptick in supply, spreads in the sector did not widen materially as overall demand generally remained firm.

Important Risks: The fund is actively managed and its characteristics will vary. Holdings shown should not be deemed as a recommendation to buy or sell securities. Bond values fluctuate in price so the value of your investment can go down depending on market conditions. Fixed income risks include interest-rate and credit risk. Typically, when interest rates rise, there is a corresponding decline in bond values. Credit risk refers to the possibility that the bond issuer will not be able to make principal and interest payments. Non-investment-grade debt securities (high-yield/junk bonds) may be subject to greater market fluctuations, risk of default or loss of income and principal than higher-rated securities. The fund may use derivatives to hedge its investments or to seek to enhance returns. Derivatives entail risks relating to liquidity, leverage and credit that may reduce returns and increase volatility. There may be less information on the financial condition of municipal issuers than public corporations. The market for municipal bonds may be less liquid than taxable bonds. Some investors may be subject to Alternative Minimum Tax (AMT). Capital gains distributions are taxable. Concentrating in a single state is subject to greater risk of adverse economic conditions and regulatory changes.

Exchange-traded funds and open-ended mutual funds are considered a single population for comparative purposes. It is calculated based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a managed product's monthly excess performance, placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The top 10% of products in each product category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars, and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a managed product is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five-, and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics. The weights are: 100% three-year rating for 36-59 months of total returns, 60% five-year rating/40% three-year rating for 60-119 months of total returns, and 50% 10-year rating/30% five-year rating/20% three-year rating for 120 or more months of total returns. While the 10-year overall star rating formula seems to give the most weight to the 10-year period, the most recent three-year period actually has the greatest impact because it is included in all three rating periods. The fund was rated against the following numbers of U.S.-domiciled Muni New York Long funds over the following time periods: 82 in the last 3 years, 77 in the last 5 years and 64 in the last 10 years. With respect to these Muni New York Long funds, the fund received a Morningstar Rating of 5, 4 and 4 stars for the 3-, 5- and 10-year periods, respectively. Other classes may have different performance characteristics.
