Commentary as of 12/31/20

- The fund posted returns of 0.06% (Institutional shares) and -0.09% (Investor A shares, without sales charge) for the fourth quarter of 2020.
- The main drivers of the fund's outperformance relative to the benchmark were allocations to emerging-market rates and currency exposure. Additional contributors included allocations to commercial mortgage-backed securities (CMBS) and U.S. interest rate strategies. Interest rate volatility strategies detracted modestly.
- The fund became more underweight in headline duration (interest rate sensitivity) relative to the benchmark. Within agency mortgage-backed securities (MBS), the fund transitioned to an underweight position over the quarter. Allocations to emerging-market government bonds were little changed, while positions in U.S. inflation-linked bonds were reduced.

Contributors	Detractors
The largest contributors to performance were allocations to emerging-market currencies and sovereign rates. Exposures to CMBS and rates in non-U.S. developed markets contributed too.	Interest rate volatility strategies detracted modestly.

Further insight

As the economy improves, inflation ticks higher, and the prospect of additional fiscal stimulus remains, we have continued to trim the fund's exposure to long-dated securities, given our view of higher rates and a steeper yield curve in 2021. In agency mortgages, we have shifted to an underweight position in mortgages, primarily in coupons being purchased by the Federal Reserve. Within global rates and currencies, the fund maintains a small long position in government bonds from select peripheral European countries and Asian emerging markets, including China and Indonesia.

Important Risks: The fund is actively managed and its characteristics will vary. Holdings shown should not be deemed as a recommendation to buy or sell securities. Bond values fluctuate in price so the value of your investment can go down depending on market conditions. Fixed income risks include interest-rate and credit risk. Typically, when interest rates rise, there is a corresponding decline in bond values. Credit risk refers to the possibility that the bond issuer will not be able to make principal and interest payments. Principal of mortgage- or asset-backed securities normally may be prepaid at any time, reducing the yield and market value of those securities. Obligations of U.S. gov't agencies are supported by varying degrees of credit but generally are not backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. gov't. The fund may use derivatives to hedge its investments or to seek to enhance returns. Derivatives entail risks relating to liquidity, leverage and credit that may reduce returns and increase volatility.

1 Class R shares are sold to a limited group of investors, including certain retirement plans. See prospectus for details. 2 The performance information for periods prior to the inception date (5/11/92) of Investor A shares is based on the Fund's Institutional Shares, adjusted to reflect the fees and expenses applicable to such share class. See the fund prospectus for more details. 3 The Barclays U.S. Government/Mortgage Index measures the performance of U.S. government bonds and mortgage-related securities; the Barclays U.S. Agency Index, which includes native currency agency debentures from issuers such as Fannie Mae (FNMA), Freddie Mac (FHLMC) and Federal Home Loan Bank; and the Barclays U.S. MBS Index, which includes U.S. agency mortgage-backed pass-through securities (both fixed-rate and hybrid ARM) issued by Ginnie Mae (GNMA), FNMA and FHLMC. 4 The Morningstar Rating™ for funds, or "star rating", is calculated for managed products (including mutual funds, variable annuity and variable life subaccounts, exchange-traded funds, closed-end funds, and separate accounts) with at least a three-year history. Exchange-traded funds and open-ended mutual funds are considered a single population for comparative purposes. It is calculated based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a managed product's monthly excess performance, placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The top 10% of products in each product category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars, and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a managed product is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five-, and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics. The weights are: 100% three-year rating for 36-59 months of total returns, 60% five-year rating/40% three-year rating for 60-119 months of total returns, and 50% 10-year rating/30% five-year rating/20% three-year rating for 120 or more months of total returns. While the 10-year overall star rating formula seems to give the most weight to the 10-year period, the most recent three-year period actually has the greatest impact because it is included in all three rating periods. The fund was rated against the following numbers of U.S.-domiciled Intermediate Government funds over the following time periods: 224 in the last 3 years, 203 in the last 5 years and 180 in the last 10 years. With respect to these Intermediate Government funds, the fund received a Morningstar Rating of 4, 4 and 4 stars for the 3-, 5- and 10-year periods, respectively. Other classes may have different performance characteristics.
