Commentary as of 03/31/24

- The fund posted returns of 0.63% (Institutional shares) and 0.48% (Investor A shares, without sales charge) for the first quarter of 2024.
- The fund outperformed its benchmark, with its interest rate hedge (via short U.S. Treasury futures) a strong contributor during a quarter in which interest rates increased.
- The fund started the quarter with a duration exposure (interest rate sensitivity) that was in line with the benchmark, though it ended well above. At quarter-end, the fund retained an overweight holding in municipal bonds with maturities in a 15–25-year range and an overweight position in credit quality between A and BBB.

Contributors	Detractors
During a quarter in which both U.S. Treasury and municipal bond yields increased, the fund's interest rate hedge (via short U.S. Treasury futures) was a strong contributor to performance. In addition, the fund benefited from its exposure to lower-rated investment grade municipal securities and sub-investment grade municipal debt. Lower-quality debt performed well as credit spreads compressed. The cash holding also benefited returns.	Higher-quality municipal exposure and long maturity municipal positions detracted from results as these areas performed weakly during the quarter.

Further insight

Demand for municipal bonds remained very strong, despite higher rates and a significant increase in year-to-date new issue supply. The fund took advantage of the rise in yields to cover its interest rate hedge, which increased duration. It also participated in new issuance opportunities to invest in bonds with coupons of 5% or more while focusing on the longer end of the yield curve as that area's steepness was attractive. The fund also sought to move out of its exposure to credit with 4% coupons, which, in our view, had limited upside potential. At quarter-end, tax-exempt municipal bond valuations remained stretched.

Important Risks: The fund is actively managed and its characteristics will vary. Holdings shown should not be deemed as a recommendation to buy or sell securities. Bond values fluctuate in price so the value of your investment can go down depending on market conditions. Fixed income risks include interest-rate and credit risk. Typically, when interest rates rise, there is a corresponding decline in bond values. Credit risk refers to the possibility that the bond issuer will not be able to make principal and interest payments. Non-investment-grade debt securities (high-yield/junk bonds) may be subject to greater market fluctuations, risk of default or loss of income and principal than higher-rated securities. The fund may use derivatives to hedge its investments or to seek to enhance returns. Derivatives entail risks relating to liquidity, leverage and credit that may reduce returns and increase volatility. There may be less information on the financial condition of municipal issuers than public corporations. The market for municipal bonds may be less liquid than taxable bonds. Some investors may be subject to Alternative Minimum Tax (AMT). Capital gains distributions are taxable. Concentrating in a single state is subject to greater risk of adverse economic conditions and regulatory changes.

Exchange-traded funds and open-ended mutual funds are considered a single population for comparative purposes. It is calculated based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a managed product's monthly excess performance, placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The top 10% of products in each product category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars, and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a managed product is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five-, and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics. The weights are: 100% three-year rating for 36-59 months of total returns, 60% five-year rating/40% three-year rating for 60-119 months of total returns, and 50% 10-year rating/30% five-year rating/20% three-year rating for 120 or more months of total returns. While the 10-year overall star rating formula seems to give the most weight to the 10-year period, the most recent three-year period actually has the greatest impact because it is included in all three rating periods. The fund was rated against the following numbers of U.S.-domiciled Muni New York Long funds over the following time periods: 81 in the last 3 years, 75 in the last 5 years and 64 in the last 10 years. With respect to these Muni New York Long funds, the fund received a Morningstar Rating of 5, 4 and 4 stars for the 3-, 5- and 10-year periods, respectively. Other classes may have different performance characteristics.
